Benton's Liniment.

Which has been used in Carson for over twenty-five years, has saved many an ache and pain to those who know it. It is really intended for horses but works with the same magical effect on the human. It is a powerful remedy and for rheumatism is the king of the world. Aches knocked out in short order. No horseman should be without a bottle.

Gibraltar.

This famous stallion will stand for the season at the ranch of John Sweeney near Carson City. Gibraltar is the sire of Homestead whose record two years ago was 2:14 1/2.

A Card.

H. H. Springmeyer extends a general invitation to the public to come to Briggs' Hotel and sample his fresh creamery butter. Absolutely pure.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays the pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A. Livingston now practically controls the wholesale liquor trade of the city. He is continually adding to his stock and sells only standard brands. He is also introducing some excellent California wines to the people of Carson, as well as foreign and domestic cigars of the finest quality. Drop in and inspect his stock.

We make a specialty of the cultivation of Evergreens, at Evergreen Nurseries, located at Evergreen Door County, Wisconsin. George Pinney, Prop. Send for catalogue. Every body can have evergreen hedges.

Having secured the services of the well known Carson shoemaker Mr. E. F. Morton, we are prepared to do all custom work and repairing at short notice, and in a first class manner. Jason S. Burlington.

ALL SORTS.

Skating rink tonight.

Spring lamb at Rosser & Muller's.

Lindsay & Pierce have changed their class night from Thursday to Wednesday.

After the Stanford University boys won the football match in San Francisco, they painted the town red.

Fish Commissioner Mills has returned from an extended trip. He reports trout running up the streams all over the State.

The Examiner proposes to send twenty of the brightest children of the public schools in San Francisco to the World's Fair.

Tomato dances are the latest social fad. The upper ten have genuine chickens and the lower class content themselves with sea gulls.

The Sacramento Bee publishes a revolting story of the outrage of two children aged respectively three and six years. Lynching ought to follow as soon as the miscreant is caught.

The Denver Times declares prophetically that "If President Harrison refuses to sign a free-coinage bill before election his successor will perform his duty in his stead next year."

Years ago parties wanted to sell the Bell telephone invention to John Mackey for $25,000. The offer was declined and now the invention pays interest one one hundred and twenty millions.

Herman Springmeyer has started a creamery at his ranch, and the butter he sells is stamped "H. S." He is now studying the proposition of stamping it "I. H. S." to catch the church custom.

Lucky Baldwin's daughter has eloped with her cousin. Her father threatened to disinherit her if she did it. She loses ten million by her act but gains a nice young man and a good chance of her father's forgiveness.

The editor of the Mascot at Sisson observed St. Patrick's Day by printing his edition on green paper. This is a much more graceful tribute to Ireland's Patron Saint, than the policy of some editors of merely getting full on that day.

A woman in Sacramento telephoned to the police station that a burglar was in the house and proved that the man in the attic was her jealous husband watching her bedroom. He was pulled down by the officer and promised to behave himself.

According to a Trenton, N. J., dispatch: The scandal connecting the names of State Senators and Assemblymen with alleged bribery in passing the bill to legalize the Reading deal has grown to such an extent that the executive may be forced to action. Gossip, which is uncontradicted, says it cost the Combines $60,000 cash to pass through the House and $200,000 through the Senate.

Three thousand men and women, influence, direct and indirect, with probably one million voters, enrolled in the ranks of the various labor organization of the country, or controlled by the newspapers with which many of them are or have been connected, are anxiously waiting to see whether Democratic parsimony is to keep their lives and health in the danger to which they are exposed by refusing to provide for a new Government Printing office building. The three thousand men and women are the employees compelled to risk their health and lives in the present building in order to earn a livelihood for themselves and families.

A Sickening Story.

Philadelphia, March 22.—When the State Board of Charities meet at Huntington tomorrow, most startling information will be laid before it, bearing upon the cruelty and barbarities inflicted upon inmates of the Pennsylvania Industrial Reformatory. The names of eighty-three boys will be presented, all of whom have been victims of long confinement in solitary cells and in most instances whipped with water soaked leather flaps, and chained to iron bars above their heads or to the floor. Some of the victims, it is charged, were driven to insanity and attempted suicide.

Shocking Death.

Dick Whalen who takes the Chronicle and Examiner over the Gaiger Grade in order to land them in Virginia ahead of the train, was yesterday thrown from his buckboard by a fractious horse and killed. He was thrown against the rocks and his head crushed in.

HEARTLESS WORK.

An Old Lady of this City Treated as a Pauper.

The San Francisco Call of Saturday has the following:

Mrs. Emma Moncton, a widow, a native of Canada, 56 years of age, was taken before the Insanity Commissioners yesterday on complaint of her son-in-law, T. Coffin, and committed to the Agnews Asylum.

Mrs. Coffin is the daughter of the afflicted woman. She lives with her husband at Carson City, Nevada, but they are just now stopping at the Palace Hotel. Both of them were summoned before the Insanity Commissioners yesterday to testify in relation to the condition of the demented woman, but only Mr. Coffin appeared.

There was no doubt about Mrs. Moncton's condition, as she gave every evidence of a mind completely wrecked. She imagines herself Queen Victoria and thinks the people of Canada are conspiring to dispose of her.

Knowing that the woman's daughter and son-in-law were putting up at the Palace, and taking it for granted that they must therefore be in tolerably comfortable circumstances, Deputy Clerk Dean took it upon himself to ask Mr. Coffin if he desired to pay a certain small sum monthly to insure a few extra comforts for his mother-in-law. Fifteen dollars a month will take a patient out of the paupers' department and entitle him or her to a great many additional comforts and attentions.

Mr. Coffin turned on Deputy Dean very abruptly and growled:

"Mind your own business."

Quite naturally this stirred the deputy's ire, and he retorted by remarking that he had a good mind to do so by sending an officer after Mrs. Coffin, who had failed to respond to the summons, and require her to explain why her mother was being sent to the asylum as a common pauper.

Coffin discovered by this time that he had made a mistake.

"Who are you?" he asked nervously.

"I'm the officer who has charge of this department," replied Mr. Dean.

The haughty son-in-law's agitation was greatly aggravated at this discovery, and he seemed anxious to patch matters up as speedily as possible. He assured Deputy Deane that it was all right, and not worth making any trouble over.

The affair cooled down, and not a word was said by Mr. Coffin about extra care for Mrs. Moncton. So she was carted away to Agnews a common pauper.

His Own Shadow.

The other evening F. S. Gladding—agent for the Farnham drum—came home, and as he opened the kitchen door, saw a man with his back toward him, in the pantry.

Carefully closing the door and locking it he went round in front and told his wife that there was a burglar there. She held the lamp while he, armed with a knife and brick, went to the kitchen, and just before opening the door he remarked to his wife:

"If that fellow don't walk out here I'll fill him so full of buckshot that his grandfather won't know him from a last year's bird's nest."

Then he threw open the door and no one was there.

It transpired that what he saw was his shadow cast on the wall by the electric light.

The children who were awake at the time and listening, are now gazing the mistaken parent almost to death.

His Superior Officer.

One cold rainy day, during the late war (when everybody was mad), Lieutenant Pat Mucahy told Tim Bowler to report to his superior officer for special duty. "Me scoupyrior officer is it?" said Tim. "Be gob, I was a layin brick in the wall when Captain Donnick Callahan was carryin' mortar in the hod, the black faced devil. Ye've only to holler 'more mort,' and he'd drop his sword and look up. No man is scoupyrior to me that can't lay brick."—Chloride Belt.

Health Hints.

Do not sleep more than eight hours a day. You have plenty of time to sleep after you are dead. It is therefore a waste of time.—Chloride Belt.

The editor of the Belt if he really believes in his doctrine is a fool to wear warm clothes in his life time as he'll be warm enough after he's dead.

COAST NEWS.

The Salt Lake Chamber of Commerce alleges unjust discrimination in Utah freights by all the roads entering the Territory.

The Coeur d'Alene mines are to be opened next month. The resumption of work in that section will give 2,000 men employment.

East of Boise City, Idaho, are several hot springs, and a scheme is incubating to have the hot water conveyed to the residences in the town.

The first shovel of dirt on the Santa Fe extension from Phoenix to Tucson, Benson and tidewater at Guaymas was thrown Saturday at Phoenix.

At North Yakima, Wash., two prisoners attempted to seize a Deputy Sheriff while the prisoners were at supper, but the Deputy freed himself and with his pistol drove the men to their cells.

Miss Hazel Keyes was injured at Sacramento Sunday by a fall with the trapeze from a balloon in which she started to ascend, owing to the collision of the aerial vessel with a pole used while the balloon was being inflated.

Much excitement has been created at Kettle Falls, Stevens County, Wash., owing to a decision of the County Court that the town is illegally incorporated. Many improvements have been made and are being made, and people directly interested are greatly alarmed at the financial possibilities.

At Hopland Mendocino county, a man named McCabe was assassinated in his saloon Friday night by, it is supposed, one of his step-sons. McCabe's wife's children had protested against the deed of a large body of land to McCabe by his wife, which the children claimed was their property.

The returning in irons of several deserters from the British war-ship Daphne to the Vessel at Vancouver, B. C., Saturday, caused a riot on the ship, the messmates of the deserters becoming enraged because the men were ironed. Chief of Police McLaron and his assistant, McLeod, were beaten, and the marines had to hold the sailors at bay with the bayonet.

Saturday afternoon, at San Jose, C. B. Wilcox, a contractor of that city, killed John Coombe, ex-county Surveyor, and James Dougherty, the latter's assistant. The men had quarreled and engaged in a rough-and-tumble fight. Wilcox being worsted, went to a back room of the saloon and soon returned with a pistol and commenced shooting. Dougherty's wound, though serious, is not fatal. All the men had been drinking.

The New Messiah.

Koreschan Teed, who has founded a new religious society in Southern California is going east to found a new home for the Society, near Chicago. The Progressive Thinker says:

The money to be raised in transporting the disciples comes from Mrs. Johnson, a recent convert. Teed predicts that during the World's Fair he will be killed by angry husbands whose wives have joined the Koreschan Unity; that he will then be "theocrased" and appear in astral form to his flock.

Pasturage.

Having leased the ranch of John P. Sweeney near Carson city, I propose to pasture cows from the 1st day of April at the rate of $2.50 per head per month. This ranch is well watered and contains about two hundred acres of alfalfa and timothy. I have been the lessee of Mr. Kirman's ranch for years on the Penitentiary road but it is unfit for pasturage, as the contents of all the sewers in Carson as well as from the Prison lodge upon the premises. Stock will be driven from and returned to the city daily.
